Karzai Takes on Rivals as Afghan Vote Nears

TUNED IN: An Afghan girl listens to President Hamid Karzai during a presidential debate on Sunday. Karzai took on two of his rivals in the Aug. 20 election who criticized his government as corrupt and unable to create jobs. "Afghanistan, which has suffered a lot, was totally lost," Karzai said. "I saved it."

'Public Option' May Be Dead

Obama team backs off call for government-run insurance

WASHINGTON | Bowing to Republican pressure and an uneasy public, President Obama's administration signaled Sunday it is ready to abandon the idea of giving Americans the option of government-run insurance as part of a new health care system.

Facing mounting opposition to the overhaul, administration officials left open the chance for a compromise with Republicans that would include health insurance cooperatives instead of a government-run plan. Such a concession probably would enrage Obama's liberal supporters but could deliver a much-needed victory on a top domestic priority opposed by GOP lawmakers.

Officials from both political parties reached across the aisle in an effort to find compromises on proposals they left behind when they returned to their districts for an August recess. Obama had wanted the government to run a health insurance organization to help cover the nation's almost 50 million uninsured, but didn't include it as one of his core principles of reform.

Health and Human Services Secretary Kathleen Sebelius said that government alternative to private health insurance is "not the essential element" of the administration's health care overhaul. The White House would be open to co-ops, she said, a sign that Democrats want a compromise so they can declare a victory. PHILIP ELLIOTT (AP)

A 1,224-pound triple vanilla cupcake with pink frosting, unveiled Saturday in Royal Oak, Mich., has set a record as the world's largest. A Guinness World Records adjudicator was on hand to certify the cupcake's girth. It was more than eight times the size of the previous record holder. The colossal cupcake took 12 hours to bake and included 800 eggs and 200 pounds each of sugar and flour. To take the record, the cake had to be edible, be cooked throughout and resemble a cupcake. # Wis. Mayor Attacked Near Fair

Police: Milwaukee official hit with pipe while aiding woman

him with a pipe as the mayor tried to assist a woman screaming for help near the Wisconsin State Fair.

Barrett, 55, was stable at a hospital with a fractured hand, and other wounds, official said.

Police said the woman was trying to protect her granddaughter, 1, in what they described as a domestic dispute when the mayor stepped in.

The man hit Barrett in the head and torso with a metal pipe. Barrett apparently fought back, fracturing his hand when he punched the suspect.

The suspect fled the area when he heard sirens. He was arrested Sunday at a Milwaukee home. Police recovered the alleged weapon. DINESH RAMDE (AP)

N.Y.C. Braces for Swine Flu Sequel

School that suffered outbreak has already learned hard lessons

NEW YORK | At St. Francis Preparatory School this fall, the auditorium will double as a sick room. New York City might make students wash their hands several times a day. There will be a unit on swine flu in health class.

In the weeks after the swine flu outbreak that began at the Queens parochial school, New York City became a viral epicenter and focus of the nation's fears of the illness.

While educators and health officials decide how best to ward off a stronger strain of the virus in the fall, St. Francis Assistant Principal Patrick McLaughlin said his students may have already learned from experience to be vigilant.

He already noticed the changes: Sharing water bottles at school suddenly became a major transgression. And in 25 years of teaching health class, McLaughlin had never seen students get so excited about communicable diseases.

JASON DECROW/AP

A worker cleans a hallway at St. Francis Preparatory School in the Queens borough of New York. The school was closed earlier this year after an outbreak of swine flu.

"I don't want them to come to school being afraid," McLaughlin said. "But I do want that awareness ... that knowledge that it's out there. It could come back. Be ready for it."

There are signs that students have already learned hard lessons about spreading the virus.

Like many of her classmates at St. Francis, Abby Opam's early brush with swine flu likely left her immune to any fall outbreak — but the experience has changed how she's looking at her first year of college at New York University.

"I'm being more careful to not, like, share drinks or, you know, get too touchy with people — especially with so many new people from different parts of the country."

At St. Francis, where fluorescent corridor lights reflect off the newly waxed and buffed hallways, administrators are waiting to start a fresh year. They're prepared with extra equipment this time around. After the chaos of last year, the school received donated sterilization equipment, and the school nurse bought touch-forehead thermometers to make mass triage easier. SAMANTHA GROSS (AP)

CRIME Familiar Foliage Police in Killingly, Conn., say they've caught the person who stole a Japanese maple tree worth $1,000 from a park, and the evidence in the case was extremely strong. State troopers say they found the mature tree replanted in Kenneth Blanchette's front yard in Plainfield, Conn. The 45-year-old Blanchette turned himself in at the state police barracks in Danielson, Conn., on Thursday afternoon. He was charged with third-degree larceny and posted $1,000 bail. The tree has since been replanted at the park. (AP)

Go West, Young President

Obama embraces the great outdoors in series of family trips

GRAND CANYON, ARIZ. | President Obama is hardly the consummate Western outdoorsman.

He's spent his adult life in big cities — New York, Chicago and, now, Washington. Basketball, golf, and bodysurfing are his sports of choice. Indoor daily gym workouts are the norm. Hunting, climbing, rafting — not so much.

Yet there he was on a summer weekend, enthusiastically soaking in America's vast wilderness. He toured Yellowstone National Park, checking out Old Faithful. He strolled trails along the Grand Canyon's rim. He cast a fly while fishing in a Montana river and spent a night in a mountain-side lodge.

"Pretty nice, eh?" Obama said Sunday as the family took in the breathtaking view from the Grand Canyon's Hopi Point. "Last time I was here was when I was 11 years old."

A day earlier at Yellowstone, the first family watched the world's most famous geyser erupt. "Oh, that's pretty good. Cool! Look at that," Obama said.

It's safe to say that the Hawaiian-born president has spent more time on beaches and in cities than he has in the mountains of the West.

But Obama clearly has a zest for recreation and a curiosity about the diverse nation he governs. And he appears intent on broadening his kids' interests and, perhaps, his own.

"He wants very much to see and share the outdoors and some of the beautiful places in the country with his daughters," press secretary Robert Gibbs said. "He's always tremendously enjoyed being outside with his family." LIZ SIDOTI (AP)

Myanmar Frees Ailing American

Va. senator flies with Suu Kyi's uninvited visitor to Bangkok

BANGKOK | Myanmar freed an ailing American who it had sentenced to seven years of hard labor and handed him to an influential U.S. senator on Sunday, a move that could help persuade Washington to soften its hardline policy against the military regime.

Sen. Jim Webb, D-Va., who secured John Yettaw's freedom, said he believes years of sanctions have failed to move the Southeast Asian country toward democratic reforms or talks with detained opposition leader Aung San Suu Kyi.

Webb said he would discuss his conclusions and recommendations with Secretary of State Hillary Rodham Clinton and others on his return to Washington. He declined to speculate on what the Obama administration — which is reviewing its policy toward Myanmar — would do.

Webb flew with Yettaw to Bangkok on Sunday afternoon. Yettaw

Iran Expands Mass Trial of Opposition

Ahmadinejad plans to nominate three women to Cabinet

TEHRAN, IRAN | Iran expanded its mass trial of opposition supporters Sunday, adding 25 more defendants, including a Jewish teenager, who are accused of involvement in unrest over the disputed presidential election.

The turmoil that erupted after the opposition declared the June 12 vote a fraud has weakened President Mahmoud Ahmadinejad and called his legitimacy into question.

Nevertheless, he pushed ahead with preparations for his next term by announcing he will nominate three women to join his new Cabinet. If confirmed, they would be Iran's first female ministers since the 1979 Islamic Revolution.

The announcement appeared to be an attempt to enlist the support of Iranian women as Ahmadinejad fends off criticism from the opposition and some of his own conservative supporters. But the appointments seem unlikely to appease reformists, because the two women he named Sunday are fellow hardliners. NASSER KARIMI (AP)

Va. Case May Define Pet's Worth

Man's suit claims 'emotional distress' after his dog's death

ARLINGTON, VA. | How much is a pet worth to its owner?

An animal-rights case headed to court next week in Arlington County could answer that question and redefine Virginia property law in the process.

“If you ask somebody if their animal companion is worth only the cost of the animal, people will look at you like you’re crazy.”

—LANNY DAVIS

JEFFREY NANNI'S ATTORNEY

Jeffrey Nanni has sued his former domestic partner, Maurice Kevin Smith, alleging that Smith maliciously killed their 12-pound Chihuahua, Buster, two years ago by hitting him with a wooden board. Smith has denied killing Buster, but was found guilty of assault and battery, and cruelty to animals in connection with the incident.

Since Buster's death, the suit says, Nanni, 42, a paralegal, "continues to suffer severe emotional distress." The suit asks $15,000, the minimum amount to ensure the case will be heard in Arlington Circuit Court, for Buster's worth,

"which includes Buster's unique value ... as a companion animal."

If he wins, it would be a first in Virginia. State law says dogs and cats are considered personal property, and owners are "entitled to recover the value" of the pet if the pet is injured or killed. In the past, that has been interpreted to mean the replacement value.

Nanni's lawyer, Lanny Davis, says pets have "irreplaceable relationships" with their owners. "If you ask somebody if their animal companion is worth only the cost of the animal, people will look at you like you're crazy," Davis said.

Some health care providers are letting their patients barter for medical treatment

HEALTH CARE | Cash, check or a cord of wood for that doctor visit? As health care costs climb, old-fashioned bartering has seen brisk growth in the recession.

Robert Joesf of Hillsborough, N.J., traded his Web site designing skills for nearly $1,000 in dental work last year when he had no insurance. Other patients across the country are learning that health care debts don't always have to be settled with precious cash.

The trade exchange ITEX Corp., for example, has seen its health care business rise 45 percent over the past year. The exchange now fos-bartering can be tricky, and not every health care provider will consider it.

People who barter for health care say the practice allows them to stretch their resources.

Some doctors are open to bartering directly with patients. Others trade through an exchange such as ITEX.

Direct bartering depends on the patient's having a good or service the doctor needs. At the Barter Clinic on the edge of the Blue Ridge Mountains in Floyd, Va., a wide range of barters are considered.

Johanna Nichols barters produce from her organic vegetable farm with Susan Osborne, an osteopathic physician at the clinic. Nichols said she barters to help offset the costs of a high-deductible insurance plan.

Osborne's Barter Clinic also accepts clothing and firewood, and has counted violin lessons and child care among other unorthodox forms of payment accepted.

No matter what is bartered, the transaction must be reported to the Internal Revenue Service. The fair market value of property or services received should be included as income on tax returns. Failing to do so can lead to headaches. Osborne said she was once audited her barter accounts to make sure proper taxes were being paid.

"Several people ... had not realized that they had to report it on their taxes, and so they ended up having to redo their taxes and were angry with us," Osborne said.

It's Down to the Wire for Nats

Will team increase its record offer in order to sign Strasburg?

NATIONALS | The record-setting deal that the Washington Nationals have offered to No. 1 draft pick Stephen Strasburg will have to grow if Strasburg is to sign, said a source who requested anonymity because of the sensitivity of negotiations.

The specific amount of the Nats' current offer to Strasburg remains unknown, but it exceeds the $10.5 million awarded to Chicago's Mark Prior in 2001, still the record for an amateur pitcher.

According to the source, Washington's current offer has been on the table since the team's ownership group, along with President Stan Kasten and acting general manager Mike Rizzo, traveled to California last week to meet with the 21-year-old pitcher. The fact that Strasburg hasn't since agreed to a deal, the source said, "should tell you enough."

Almost all involved, to this point, expect the negotiations to go down to the final hours, if not the final minutes. Strasburg has until

In floating a $50 million price tag in June, the agent to the star players let it be known that he wants to restructure the way baseball draft picks' salaries are awarded. If successful, he may become the most powerful person in the game. If not, Strasburg may be the big loser.

FOR THE PAST two seasons, Strasburg has been the most dominant amateur pitcher this country has seen in decades. Now the former San Diego State ace is looking to cash in on his incredible hype. As Monday's deadline approaches, it will be up to the 21-year-old to decide whether a record deal is enough to sign with the Nats or whether it's worth holding out another year to earn millions more.

midnight on Monday to sign with the Nationals. If he does not sign, he will be eligible for the 2010 draft. Agent Scott Boras, who advises Strasburg, could explore sending the right-hander to Japan.

Said Ryan Zimmerman, Wash-

money. I don't understand what he thinks will be better next year."

Nationals Take Three Straight From the Reds

NATIONALS | Rookie Drew Sutton's defensive lapse in the eighth inning allowed Josh Willingham to hustle home from third base with the winning run as the Washington Nationals rallied for a 5-4 win over the Cincinnati Reds on Sunday.

Sutton allowed the go-ahead run to score from third when he lobbed a relay throw to first baseman Joey Votto behind the mound on pinch-hitter Ryan Zimmerman's hit.

It was the Reds' third-straight loss to the team with baseball's worst record and their 14th in 22 games since the All-Star break. (AP)

Chone Figgins had four hits for the Angels, including the 1,000th of his career, an RBI single in the sixth inning. Los Angeles' lead-off hitter scored three runs and drove in three.

After missing 32 games with a groin injury, Hunter had two hits and two RBI in his return. He lined into a double play with the bases loaded in the 11th but redeemed himself in the 13th. (AP)

Yang Outduels Woods at the PGA

World's No. 1 player finishes without a major title this year

GOLF | In a year of spoilers at the majors, Y.E. Yang was the biggest of all.

He toppled the mighty Tiger Woods.

Yang became the first Asian-born player to win a major Sunday with a stunning performance in the PGA Championship, memorable as much for his clutch shots as the player he beat.

Woods was 14-0 when he went into the final round of a major atop the leaderboard. He had not lost any tournament around the world in nine years when leading by two shots.

None of that mattered to Yang, a 37-year-old South Korean who hit the shots everyone expected from Woods. Leading by one on the final hole, Yang slayed golf's giant with a hybrid 3-iron that cleared the bunker and settled 12 feet from the cup.

Yang made the birdie to close with a 2-under 70, giving him a three-shot victory when Woods missed yet another par putt and shot 75.

It was the second time Woods has finished runner-up in the PGA Championship at Hazeltine, both times to a surprise winner. Seven years ago, Woods birdied the last four holes and came up one short of Rich Beem. (AP)

TRACK AND FIELD

Bolt Shatters World Record With 100M Win at Worlds

Usain Bolt saved the celebration for after the finish line this time and showed that, yes, he can keep breaking that world record. He obliterated it, in fact. Bolt ran 100 meters in 9.58 seconds Sunday at the world championships, turning his showdown against Tyson Gay into a rout. It was the biggest change in the record since electronic time was introduced in 1968. (AP)

Tempers Flare at Training Camp

Fight breaks out days after Zorn calls some of the Redskins 'soft'

REDSKINS | Just two days after coach Jim Zorn said some of his players were "soft" in the Redskins' preseason opener, the intensity level was noticeably higher at Sunday morning's practice. Players' tempers matched the rising temperature, as the first fight of the preseason broke out during a team drill.

Cornerback DeAngelo Hall and rookie receiver Marko Mitchell mixed it up and exchanged heated words after a play. The two had to be separated by several teammates.

"It's hot out here, it's training camp, we haven't had a good fight yet," Hall said, listing the contributing factors that led to his tossing Mitchell to the ground.

Redskins coach Jim Zorn said he wanted more intensity after a 23-0 loss to the Ravens in Thursday's preseason game. He got some with a fight at practice Sunday.

Hall says he appreciated that the rookie fought back. Backing down, especially so soon after Zorn uttered the S-word, would not have gone over well. "You wouldn't expect him to get hit across the head and fall down. I'd hope he stands up and fights," said Hall.

Afterward, Zorn said the fights weren't exactly what he had in mind. "It expended needless energy. It shows intensity, but that's the only thing I like about it."

Vick Gets Extra Work in During Eagles' Practice

NFL | Michael Vick spent an extra 20 minutes on the field after Eagles practice ended, trying to catch up on Philadelphia's offense and get back into playing shape.

Vick was in good spirits Sunday and shared some laughs with teammate

Vick

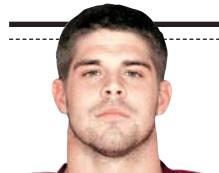

Donovan McNabb. Vick completed some deep passes during the 110-minute practice and had one broken up during a goal-line drill.

Vick practiced with the Eagles for the second time since he signed Thursday for $1.6 million with a team option for a second year at $5.2 million. (AP)

WRESTLING

Angle Arrested for HGH

Pro wrestler and Olympic gold medalist Kurt Angle has been arrested on charges of possessing a human growth hormone and violating an order of protection in suburban Pittsburgh. Angle's girlfriend, who said she obtained a protection order about 1½ hours earlier after the two fought Friday night, alleged that he had circled a parking lot staring at her as she sat in a coffee shop, according to a police affidavit. ROMANCE Too Good to Be True Jessica Simpson and Colt Brennan? Tantalizing as it seems, the report of a budding romance between the Redskins' third-string QB and the singer who recently broke up with Dallas QB Tony Romo has no merit, according to Brennan. He did enjoy the attention the story was getting and was tempted to milk it for all it was worth. "My life coach, Chris Cooley, said that I should neither confirm nor deny it," Brennan said. "But me being an honest guy, I have no idea what that's about." (AP)

Sin and Bear It

CGI is everywhere, but hand-drawn animation remains a powerful medium

FILM | Computer animation may have taken control of the big-screen cartoon world, yet two of the world's animation masters remain committed to the hand-drawn form.

Japan's Hayao Miyazaki — whose 2002 fantasy "Spirited Away" won the Academy Award for feature animation — has returned with his latest tale, "Ponyo."

Miyazaki has used computer animation to embellish hand-drawn images in the past. But before "Ponyo" went into production, he shut down his studio's computer-graphics department.

"I realized that by using computers, what we were doing is that people who could draw by hand, the computer somehow entered in their heads," Miyazaki said. "So, they were starting to draw to fit the computer images, and I thought that was the wrong way to go."

Among the executive producers for the English-language version of "Ponyo," which opened Friday, is John Lasseter, whose "Toy Story" was the first computer-animated feature film.

While Lasseter's Pixar Animation remains focused on digital, he and Pixar colleague Ed Catmull also oversee animation for their company's parent, the Walt Disney Co., which is returning to its hand-drawn roots this fall.

A 'Big Brother' Mystery

Guest is evicted for breaking the rules — but which ones?

SPLITS | Freelance journalist Chima Simone is no longer in the "Big Brother" house.

"Chima has been evicted by the producers from the 'Big Brother' house for violating the rules," CBS said in a statement. "She will not be part of the show's jury. Her eviction will be addressed on an upcoming broadcast of the show."

Simone was last seen on the show conjuring conspiracy theories after her ally, bodybuilder Jessie Godderz, was spontaneously nominated for eviction Thursday because of the "coup d'état," a power secretly voted on by viewers that was used to overthrow Simone's nominations.

Simone has been one of the season's most outspoken guests. When she was nominated for eviction in the first week, CBS censored her live last-plea speech, which referenced derogatory terms used by her competitor. DERRIK J. LANG (AP)

The Not-So-Missing Ink

GET IN LINE: "Ponyo," about a goldfish who wants to be a girl, is entirely hand-drawn. No computers were used in its making.

“They were starting to draw to fit the computer images, and I thought that was the wrong way to go.”

"The Princess and the Frog," due in theaters for the holidays, is the studio's first hand-drawn animated film in five years.

"I never understand why everybody goes, 'Oh, well, now that computer animation is so successful, no one wants to watch hand-drawn animation," said Lasseter. "I think that's ridiculous. I mean, you watch his films. They're just so exquisite."

"Ponyo" is a "Little Mermaid"-type story, in which a tiny sea creature gets a taste of life above the surface, falls for a spirited young boy and embarks on a frenzied quest to become human.

Compared to the near-photo-realistic detail that computer animation can achieve, Miyazaki opts for trippy images that reflect and bend reality, including a segment in which Ponyo races along the ocean surface during a fierce storm.

"That whole sequence is amazing," Lasseter said. "He said that he wanted to keep the animators that were animating all the water very loose, so it's very impressionistic. And it was very kind of rough in the way that they did it. I think it really added to how special that sequence was." DAVID GERMAIN (AP)

BOX OFFICE Alien-Loving Nation The acclaimed sci-fi thriller "District 9" has given Hollywood a late-summer box-office boost. The saga, produced by "Lord of the Rings" director Peter Jackson, led the weekend with a $37 million debut. Another sci-fi tale, the romantic "Time Traveler's Wife," opened a solid No. 3 with $19.2 million. The previous weekend's No. 1 movie, "G.I. Joe: The Rise of Cobra," slipped to second place with $22.5 million. The teen rock 'n' roll tale "Bandslam" tanked at No. 13, bringing in just $2.3 million at the box office. (AP)

1 Crazy Quilts

For those of you who bemoan the loss of art in American life, check out "Constructed Color," an exhibit at the Textile Museum that focuses on the Amish tradition of quilting. Hey, guys, did you know there was a time when every woman in America could quilt like this? Then they invented the electric lightbulb and the cell phone and plastic buttons, and everything went downhill. That's how that happened. F.Z.

2 Sideman in Front

Robben Ford has made a career of backing up the most famous musicians in the business—George Harrison, Joni Mitchell and Miles Davis, for example—but tonight he'll be rocking the Birchmere on his own with his guitar-based fusion of jazz, blues and rock. Well, not quite on his own; he'll be backed by Nathan Gaunt, a folksy, bluesy guitarist who, contrary to his name, is not a Dickens character. F.Z.

3 Affair of Flying

Just a reminder: If you haven't taken classes at D.C.'s relatively new trapeze school yet, you should probably get on that. Afterward, you'll be sore for days—and, worse, tempted to empty your bank account to take more classes—but the flying is eminently worth it. Wear tights or leggings and go prepared to fall, because, well, you might. But that's why they invented the net. F.Z.

'Glenn Martin, DDS' is a painful and ugly animated sitcom

CLAYMATION | A reinvention of the family sitcom, "Glenn Martin, DDS" (8 p.m., Nickelodeon) replaces actors with stop-motion animated characters voiced by known performers, including Kevin Nealon and Catherine O'Hara.

"Martin" is probably best appreciated for its interesting credits. It's the first series to come from Tornante Animation, run by longtime Disney chief Michael Eisner.

Glenn Martin (Nealon) is the traditional dimwit dad, barely tolerated by his "Sex and the City"-obsessed wife (O'Hara) or acknowledged by his kids, who include an immature 13-year-old boy and a ruthlessly entrepreneurial adolescent girl with a personal assistant (Judy Greer).

Free of laughs, but not of a laugh track, the first episode, about a family road trip, borrows heavily from "National Lampoon's Family Vacation." Nealon, who can be seen as a poor man's Chevy Chase, does his animated best to breathe life into his hand-me-down Clark Griswold character.

NICKELODEON
The family on "Glenn Martin, DDS" will probably grate on you more than your own.

After Glenn tries to wean his children from their electronic gadgets, the family is stranded in an Amish village, where they repay local hospitality by ridiculing their hosts and then corrupting and disrupting their simple way of life. The lesson seems to be, people who aren't addicted to money, shopping malls and video games are freaks and losers.

This "edgy" story would be slightly less horrible if any of the characters was remotely likable. Or if the animation were not so aggressively ugly. Eisner appears to have lost his Tinkerbell touch. KEVIN McDONOUGH (UNITED FEATURES SYNDICATE)

THE WHEEL DEAL

The witty car culture series TOP GEAR (9 p.m., BBC America) returns for a seventh season.

SORE SUBJECT

Brenda investigates a school shooting on THE CLOSER (9 p.m., TNT). KEVIN McDONOUGH (UNITED FEATURES SYNDICATE)

CASTING Critical Mass Cue the closing credits for "At the Movies" co-hosts Ben Lyons and Ben Mankiewicz, who've endured a year of caustic reviews for their performances as film critics. Replacing them next month on the long-running syndicated series will be film critics A.O. Scott of the New York Times and Michael Phillips of the Chicago Tribune, ABC Media Productions announced Wednesday. (AP)

B.I.O.

Colleen Borst, Lindsey Twombly

Colleen, 27, is an assistant manager at PETA. Lindsey, 28, is a fundraising and advocacy manager at HRC. They live in Silver Spring.

■ The Main Event: An informal ceremony on Vashon Island, Wash.; 100 guests will witness the Aug. 22 union. "We were planning on walking down the aisle to a string quartet version of 'Gigantic' by the Pixies," says Lindsey, but since seeing the YouTube wedding dance, "we might dance down the aisle to 'Crazy on You' by Heart."

- Honeymoon: Vancouver, B.C., where they'll get legally married.
- How They Met: They were counselors at the same summer camp.
- First Impressions: At a rock star-themed dinner, Lindsey came dressed as Justin Timberlake, and Colleen dressed as Pink. "Lindsey dropped all her silverware on the floor when she saw me walk through the door."
- First Date: They watched "Tomb Raider," then ate chocolate-chip cookies and had their first kiss on the beach.
- How She Proposed: They got engaged on their first anniversary, but waited six years so they could finish school and start their careers.
- Pet Names: Colleen: "Stinkerbell" or "C.Bean." Lindsey: "BeBe."

"Lindsey dropped all her silverware on the floor when she saw me walk through the door."

A Comedy of Eros

When CHRIS TATE was ready to propose to sweetheart LAUREN ZELT, he planned a picnic lunch on the Tidal Basin and slipped the ring into the basket. Cue the comedy of errors: The taxi driver didn't know how to get to the Tidal Basin, there were crowds everywhere, and Lauren asked to carry the basket because it was "so cute." "I nearly passed out from the anxiety of her dropping it in the water, throwing it at some annoying tourist, or Yogi Bear coming out of nowhere and stealing it," Chris says. When they finally found a spot to sit, 45 minutes later, she spotted the ring box immediately, and Chris proposed. When Lauren said yes, the crowd applauded.

Chris, 27, is an attorney. Lauren, 24, is a government relations assistant. They'll wed Aug. 29, in Georgetown in front of 150 guests. They live in Arlington.

Jessica Morrison, Anne Richardson

Jessica, 26, is a research assistant. Anne, 42, is a grad student. They live in Washington.

■ The Main Event: On Aug. 22, 100 friends and family members will witness their commitment ceremony in Decatur, Ga.

■ Honeymoon: Puerto Rico.

■ How They Met: While serving as Peace Corps volunteers in Morocco, they met one weekend in Marrakech. Beforehand, all of their friends were convinced they'd hit it off.

- First Impressions: "Despite the fact that she had been traveling for 12 hours on a dirty souk bus," Jess says, "I remember thinking, 'Wow, she is a lot more beautiful than I had expected.'" Anne says, "I had no intention of entering into a relationship during my time in the Peace Corps, but when I saw her for the first time I knew that I was in trouble."

- First Date: Jess rode a bus eight hours from her village to Anne's site; Anne made Jess a beautiful meal and they stayed up talking until late at night.

■ How She Proposed: The day after Christmas, Jess, who had planned to wait until New Year's, could wait no more and popped the question.

■ Most Hated Clothing Item: Anne: "Every pair of Jess' sunglasses."

■ Their Song: Jason Mraz's "After an Afternoon."

■ Stupidest Fight: When they came back from dinner and found that Anne's cat had somehow managed to lock them out of their apartment.

Mike Brain, Shawn Sullivan

Mike, 25, is a legislative assistant. Shawn, 25, is an MBA student. They live in Washington.

■ The Main Event: An Aug. 22 wedding. It's formal for the wedding party, but the 250 guests are "encouraged to dress for the heat!" One of Mike's high school teachers, a priest, will officiate.

■ How They Met: Through a mutual friend.

■ First Impressions: He had just come from playing a baseball game and was wearing a purple uniform. All Shawn could think, she says, was, "Why didn't he go home and change first?"

■ First Date: The Red Sox versus the Orioles at Camden Yards.

"I couldn't believe he was proposing in the middle of our run; I hadn't showered for two days!"

■ How He Proposed: Mike chose one of their favorite activities, running on the Mall, for the big question. They stopped at the Washington Monument, where, "with shaking hands, Mike pulled a House of Representatives envelope sealed with a binder clip out of his back pocket," Shawn says. "I couldn't believe he was proposing in the middle of our run; I hadn't showered for two days!"

■ When He Knew: When they were prepping for a semester abroad in Paris, "I knew that I could spend the rest of my life drinking wine and sampling cheeses and bread with her."

■ Family Traditions: She's wearing her mother's veil, and they'll cut the cake with the same knife Mike's folks used.

Getting Married? If you'd like to see your wedding or commitment ceremony in B.I.O., send your favorite informal photograph, plus your names and ceremony date to weddings@readexpress.com. ## Horoscope

By Stella Wilder

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You'll have to work hard to match the performance of a close rival — but you can do it, if you start early and are willing to work late.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You're determined to get to the heart of a current mystery — and others are depending on you to come through with the answers they all need.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) You'll receive some news that puts the focus back on your home life and the decisions you've been making that affect loved ones.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) You'll want to get moving — physically, mentally and emotionally. It's a good time to focus on all-around health.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) From the misty substance of your dreams can develop a very real strategy for a new and exciting level of success. Keep dreaming.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Don't let your emotions get the better of your intellect — or vice versa. Strive for balance.

ance in all things.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Say exactly what you mean, as the risk of being misinterpreted is greater than usual. Don't mince words.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) You're more deeply involved in the personal affairs of one or two friends than you had thought — and you may start to pay the price.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Sure, you may do a few unusual, impractical, even inappropriate things — but you're not hurting anyone, and the dangers are few.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) The result of a meeting of the minds is likely to be that you feel overwhelmed and underappreciated, but that will soon change.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You'll receive a piece of news that, in the end, is likely to upstage even your most dramatic accomplishment at this time.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Don't spend too much time trying to recapture a past glory. Today, you can strike out in a new direction, with a new goal firmly in mind.

Today in History

1863 Federal batteries and ships begin bombarding Fort Sumter in Charleston harbor during the Civil War, but the Confederates manage to hold on despite several days of pounding.

1969 Hurricane Camille slams into the Mississippi coast as a Category 5 storm with top sustained winds estimated at nearly 200 mph. The hurricane and resulting flash floods were blamed for 256 U.S. deaths, three in Cuba.

Michael Phelps, back to camera, and his teammates celebrate the relay win.

Aug. 6 is suspended indefinitely after a cave-in kills three rescuers inside a mountain inside mine.
